Garden maintenance:

Garden maintenance consists of following step:

- Lawn moving with removal of the waste to the dump.
- Aeration and seasonal lawn fertilizer weeds removal.
- Removal of dry and diseased branches, shaping and pruning plants.

- Collecting leaves in autumn and removal of the waste to the dump.
- Plant fertilization, plants protection with chemicals and other means, fountain maintenance.

Maintaining of plants in the interior consists of the following steps:

- Aeration and addition of substrate. Fertilization of plants.
- Removal of dry leaves. Watering and spraying.

Irrigation systems:

Irrigation is best known as the artificial application of Water to land or soil. It's typically used to help grow agriculture crops and re-vegetating soil in dry areas.

People use landscape irrigation system to disperse water. On and round their yards, mainly for the Purpose of keeping Shrubby, grass and flowers Green and healthy.

Indoor and outdoor plants:

We keep ferns in the bathroom, begonias in the study, a dwarf citrus in the bedroom, pots of rosemary in the kitchen, and seedlings in the basement. Today there are so many interesting plants that can be grown indoors that there's simply no reason for a gardener not to be surrounded by plants all year-round.

Seasonal flowering:

Some plants in our garden are like old friends - a familiar sight that always cheers us up. We tend to ignore and neglect them when the petunias, geraniums and other winter flowers are in bloom, but it is the hardy perennials that define the character of a garden and keep it looking green and colorful in every season.

Water features:

Ponds, fountains, and waterfalls are all at home in a Residential garden. Infinitely customizable, these features can be large or small and intricate or simple in design. Create a unique water garden and enjoy a host of Backyard benefits.

Gazebo and wooden work:

A gazebo is a free standing, open garden structure, sometimes hexagonal or octagonal in shape, with a roof. Most gazebos are constructed of wood or metal and have built-in seating inside the sheltered area. To add a sense of enclosure and privacy, latticework or outdoor curtains or drapes are sometimes used.
